

GREENLAND EXPEDITIONS - an overview

The overview presents Greenland expeditions through the centuries up to 1979. In the far right column, reference is made to:

... Arctic Institute's ARCHIVE (e.g. A 300), where one may find material about many of the expeditions,

... the database "Østgrønlandske Stednavne" (ØGLS), which provides additional details about several expeditions.

Access to the Danish Arctic Institute's archive registrant and to the database "Østgrønlandske Stednavne" is available at www.arktiskinstitut.dk.

YEAR	NAME/TITLE	GEOGRAPHY and TASKS	PARTICIPANTS	ARCHIVE ØGLS

Criteria for mentioning an expedition in the overview:

- the expedition's destination is Greenland, including Iceland until the country's independence in 1944,
- expeditions under Danish management to other destinations in the Arctic,
- very special Arctic expeditions outside Greenland and without Danish participation,
- expeditions carried out after the introduction of Greenland Home Rule (1979) are not included.

The above overview, which is under continuous development, has been prepared on the basis of literature and archives - and in close collaboration between Jan Løve, cand.psych. and Bent Nielsen, PhD.
